(PLEASE ENSURE THAT THE AUTHOR'S NAME DOES NOT APPEAR ANYWHERE IN THE ARTICLE TO ENSURE A RIGOROUS DOUBLE BLIND PEER REVIEW PROCEDURE)

ABSTRACT

As a guide, articles should be between 4000 and 6000 words in length. A title of not more than eight words should be provided

Authors must supply a structured abstract set out under 4-7 sub-headings (in max 250-300 words):

Purpose (compulsory) (What are the reason(s) for writing the paper or the aims of the research

Design/ methodology/ approach (compulsory) (How are the objectives achieved? Include the main method(s) used for the research. What is the approach to the topic and what is the theoretical or subject scope of the paper?)

Findings (compulsory) (What was found in the course of the work? This will refer to analysis, discussion, or results).

Research limitations (if applicable) (If research is reported on in the paper this section must be completed and should include suggestions for future research and any identified limitations in the research process).

Practical implications (if applicable) (What outcomes and implications for practice, applications and consequences are identified? How will the research impact upon the business or enterprise? What changes to practice should be made as a result of this research? What is the commercial or economic impact? Not all papers will have practical implications.)

Originality/value (compulsory) (What is new in the paper? State the contribution(s) and value of the paper, whom it is aimed at).

Keywords (please provide up to six keywords which encapsulate the principal topics of the paper. Using keywords is a vital part of abstract writing, because of the practice of retrieving information electronically: keywords act as the search term).

Type of the paper: JEL classification

INTRODUCTION

The Introduction must include the description of Gap and its significance, RQ/purpose, theoretical foundation, method, contributions, findings, paper structure (optional).

Recommended structure of paper: abstract, introduction, theoretical background/ literature review, research design and methodology, results and discussion, conclusions and recommendations, references.

Categorize your paper under one of these classifications:

Research paper (This category covers papers which report on any type of research undertaken by the author(s). The research may involve the construction or testing of a model or framework, action research, testing of data, market research or surveys, empirical, scientific or clinical research)

Viewpoint (Any paper, where content is dependent on the author's opinion and interpretation, should be included in this category; this also includes journalistic pieces)

Technical paper (Describes and evaluates technical products, processes or services)

Conceptual paper (These papers will not be based on research but will develop hypotheses. The papers are likely to be discursive and will cover philosophical discussions and comparative studies of others' work and thinking)

Case study (Case studies describe actual interventions or experiences within organizations. They may well be subjective and will not generally report on research. A description of a legal case or a hypothetical case study used as a teaching exercise would also fit into this category)

Literature review (It is expected that all types of paper cite any relevant literature so this category should only be used if the main purpose of the paper is to annotate and/or critique the literature in a particular subject area. It may be a selective bibliography providing advice on information sources or it may be comprehensive in that the paper's aim is to cover the main contributors to the development of a topic and explore their different views)

General review (This category covers those papers which provide an overview or historical examination of some concept, technique or phenomenon. The papers are likely to be more descriptive or instructional ("how to" papers) than discursive).

Submission Preparation Checklist

- The submission has not been previously published, nor is it before another journal for consideration (or an explanation has been provided in Comments to the Editor).
- The submission file is in Microsoft Word.
- Where available, URLs for the references have been provided.
- The structured abstract provided (please use the template provided in the Author Guidelines).
- The article is structured by the recommended structure (abstract, introduction, research design and methodology, results and discussion, conclusions and recommendations, references).

- The conclusions are numbered.
- The referencing formatted in Harvard style (in-text citations and reference list).
- The bibliographical note is provided in separate file and submitted to the platform www.journals.riseba.eu (please check it: a brief autobiographical note should be supplied including: full name, affiliation, e-mail address, full international contact details, brief professional biography).
- The cover letter provided in separate file and submitted to the platform www.journals.riseba.eu (please use the example provided in the Author Guidelines).

Headings must be short, with a clear indication of the distinction between the hierarchies of headings. The preferred format is for headings to be presented in bold format.

Notes or Endnotes should be used only if absolutely necessary and must be identified in the text by consecutive numbers, enclosed in square brackets and listed at the end of the article.

Tables should be typed and included as part of the manuscript. They should not be submitted as graphic elements. Supply succinct and clear captions for all tables, figures and plates. Ensure that any superscripts or asterisks are shown next to the relevant items and have corresponding explanations displayed as footnotes to the table, figure or plate.

The format for tables – style: simple. Please see the example below in this text.

Mathematical formulas included in the article should be provided in the text, but each one should be written on a separate line. The symbols used in the formula provide decoding behind the formula. The formulas should be numbered within each chapter with Arabic numerals placed to the right of the formula. The number should be enclosed in parenthesis, e.g.:

$$Q_g = q \times N_g, \tag{1}$$

where

$Q_g$  – amount of material required per year, kg;

$q$  – material consumption rate, kg/unit;

$N_g$  – annual production volume

If a formula takes several lines, the number should be written on the right-hand side of the last line. When referring to a formula in the text, its number should be written in the same way as the formula in parentheses.

Quality Criteria: Before submitting the papers, please check if it is in line with quality criteria

Relevance of Themes - Is the content of the article within the Editorial aims and scope?

Originality - Does the article demonstrate originality of theory, methodology, practice or is it an original case study?

Clarity of Thematic Focus - Are the author's themes clearly stated? Does the paper follow through by addressing these themes, consistently and cogently?

Quality of Communication - does the paper clearly express its case, measured against the technical language of the field and the reading capacities of an academic, tertiary student and professional readership? What is the standard of the writing, including spelling and grammar?

THEORETICAL BACKGROUND/ LITARTURE REVIEW

Subheading

Subheading

Text text text...

Relationship to literature - Does the paper demonstrate an adequate understanding of the current literature in the field? Does it connect with the literature in a way, which might be useful to the development of our understanding in the area it addresses? In describing results of literature studies analytical critical approach must be used. Scientific discussion elements compulsory. If self-citations are used, they should be limited (1-2 sources max.).

RESEARCH DESIGN AND METHODOLOGY

Research Design and Data - has the intellectual work that is the basis for this paper been built on adequate evidence, informational input, or other intellectual raw materials? Has the research or equivalent intellectual work on which the paper is based been well designed? Figure of research model is welcome, if applicable.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Critical Qualities - does the paper demonstrate a critical self-awareness of the author's own perspectives and interests? Does it show awareness of the possibility of alternative or competing perspectives: such as other cultural, social, political, theoretical or intellectual perspectives? Does it show an awareness of the practical implications of the ideas it is advancing?

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Clarity of Conclusions - are the conclusions of the paper clearly stated? Cohesiveness of paper: do the conclusions adequately tie together the other elements of the paper (such as theory, data and critical perspectives)? All conclusions must be result of research described in paper. Numerate the conclusions.
